WOMAN'S BRAVERY.

Who'll dare to say woman is not brave. Because she shares not in the strife, For the noblest battle ever fought Was won by the soldier's wife.

"Was an easy thing to charge a foe, Amid smoke and battle cheers, But different far to wait at home, Tortured by doubts and fears.

But they call him a hero who falls on the field, Looking up to the flag above, And never thinks of the maid that gave To her country the one of her love.

And the sailors that walk the "Brook" Are proud of the work she's done, But what of the woman waiting at home For news of her best loved one.

And the news of a wondrous victory, That the people so quickly spread, Brings little joy to the woman Whose loved one is dying or dead.

And if she goes not to the battle front, To share in the deadly strife, She cares for the wounded and helpless And nurses them back to life.

So when you weave the garlands For the heroes in Blue or Grey, Be just and weave one for our women, Who were just as brave as they.

NO NAMES YET CONSIDERED.

The Virginian-Pilot is in a position to state upon very good authority that no name or names for the rectorship of Trinity Episcopal Church, of this city, to succeed the Rev. J. B. Funsten, have been thought of, much less considered by the congregation of vestry of that church, reports to the contrary notwithstanding.

There is among the individual members of the church some talk of several prominent Episcopal clergymen, who, it is thought, would seriously consider a call from Trinity before declining it, as it is a splendid appointment.

The names of Revs. Nelson P. Doane, John D. Lloyd, D. D., and M. P. Logan, D. D., are more frequently mentioned than others for the rectorship. But as it is more talk among the members, and no authority has been given any one at home or abroad to select a successor to Mr. Funsten.

There will be no action taken in this direction for two or three weeks yet; certainly not until after Mr. Funsten has been elevated to the Bishopric of Idaho.

PORTSMOUTH BOYS PROMOTED.

Messrs. Benjamin F. Markham and Alonzo C. Burroughs, two Portsmouth boys who have held for many years the position of carpenters in the United States Navy, were on yesterday promoted to chief carpenters.

This promotion was made possible under the new navy personnel bill, which went into effect recently, and as usual, whenever there are Portsmouth people interested and honored are to be conferred, through merit Portsmouth distinguishes all competitors.

These gentlemen have splendid records in the navy, as they have at home as citizens, and there are thousands of people in this city who will rejoice with them in their well-deserved advancement.

The new positions carry with them, as a matter of course, greater honors, more privileges, and increased salaries, the rank being that of Ensign.

Mr. M. M. Crockin calls the attention of mothers to his large stock of Go-Carts and Baby-Carriages, which he will sell cheaper than any place in the city. His figures will compare favorably in this regard with any other place in the city. He will sell for cash on the installment plan. See advertisement and call at 609 and 611 Crawford street.
